World Book Day

We had a lovely day yesterday! We started with a ‘catwalk’ assembly, in which every class had a chance to show off their costumes and then spent the day in class celebrating how brilliant books are. We ended our assembly by giving out prizes for costumes that had caught the eyes of our judges. A great big thank you to all of our parents for helping to make our day special with such great costumes. Many thanks also to our fantastic staff who threw themselves into the fun with great costumes too. Look out for pictures on our class blogs.

Weird Weather

This week’s weather has been interesting! Please make sure children come to school with warm clothes, gloves and scarves. If the weather is particularly severe and school has to close, it will be announced on the web site and via text. In the meantime, wrap up warm and stay safe.

Uniform Sale to be held on Tuesday 6th and Wednesday 7th March during Parents Evening. Thank you for your support.

Science Day at LSJ!

On Tuesday, our budding scientists were beside themselves with excitement. They spent the whole day conducting fascinating experiments and watched a science roadshow, led by our friend and super scientist Adrian Bowden. A great day was had by all! Thank you to Mrs Yates and Mr Smith for organising such a stimulating day.

Confirmation at St James

On Sunday 18th of February, a group of children were confirmed in St James’ Church. The Bishop of Chester led the service and our children felt very special indeed as they received their first holy communion. Congratulations to all of our confirmees and their families. Thank you also to Mrs Ireland for all the support, encouragement and time she gives to our confirmees.
